WELCOME TO SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

Southern Methodist University opened in the fall of 1915 and graduated its first class in the spring of 1916. This is the University's 79th Annual Commencement Convocation.

The School of Law at Southern Methodist University was established in February 1925. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is approved by the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar of the American Bar Association.

The first law school class graduated in 1928 with 11 members. This, the 67th graduating class, consists of 232 candidates for the Juris Doctor degree, 37 candidates for the Master of Laws degree (Comparative and International Law), and 15 candidates for the Master of Laws degree.

There are four buildings in the Law School Quadrangle. Storey Hall houses the faculty library, faculty and administrative offices, the Legal Clinic, School of Law publications, and Karcher Auditorium. Carr Collins Hall, formerly Lawyers Inn, was recently renovated and contains two state-of-the-art seminar classrooms; student lounge and student areas; the offices of Admissions, Career Services, Public Service Program, and Student Affairs; as well as other University offices. Florence Hall is the classroom building with a model law office and courtroom facilities having modern audiovisual equipment and closed-circuit television. Underwood Law Library contains collection of approximately 355,000 volumes, ranking second among private law school libraries west of the Mississippi.

The Law School is uniquely advantaged by its location in the Dallas metroplex; it draws its more than 800 students from most of the 50 states and from over 100 colleges and universities. The School maintains a close working relationship with the Dallas Bar Association, of which many of the members teach seminars in specialized areas. Students have the opportunity to select courses and seminars of small enrollment with intimate interaction with the faculty.

SMU, long a leader in curriculum development, has recently revamped the traditional first-year curriculum to include an innovative skills course, "Lawyering," and has adopted a public service curricular requirement for all students entering after the fall of 1993. SMU Law School's Legal Clinics provide practical instruction in appellate, civil, criminal, immigration, and tax cases under the careful supervision of experienced practitioners. Students prepare legal documents, interview and counsel clients, and appear in court in a variety of cases.

The Graduate Program in International and Comparative Law is attended by distinguished lawyers and judges from many foreign countries with particular emphasis on those from Latin America, the Middle East, and Far East. The Graduate Program in Taxation is an intensive course of study in advanced tax issues.

For your convenience, restroom facilities are located on the basement and first floor levels of Storey Hall and Florence Hall.
